I'm not robot!

great promises to pass, but he had faith that somehow they would be fulfilled. Gods in Control So when Joseph came to his brothers, they stripped him of his robe—the richly ornamented robe he was wearing—and they took him and threw him into the cistern. Now the cistern was empty, there was no water in it. As they sat down to eat their meal, they looked up and saw a caravan of Ishmaelites coming from Gilead. Their camels were loaded with spices, balm and myrrh, and they were on their way to take them down to Egypt. Judah said to his brothers, "What will we gain if we kill our brother and cover up his blood? Come, let's sell him to the Ishmaelites and not lay our hands on him...." Genesis 37:23-27 NIV Sometimes when men become aware of God's favor upon someone, they plot to destroy God's goal for that individual, but in almost all cases their schemes only enhance the Master's plan. Envy, treachery, and machinations flow from the hearts of men blind with jealousy as they struggle to abort God's plan for His servants. But they always fail. 117 Strangers to Failure The brothers of Joseph were hell-bent on destroying him. The Bible tells us that they sold him to the Ishmaelites who were going to Egypt. Did the cruelty of Joseph's brothers put God's plan out of action? Of course not; God was still in control! Even as a small boy, as he lay there in the muddy pit, Joseph's faith remained steadfast. If the dream is from God, and you remain constant in faith, then what He has said will be fulfilled. The Ishmaelites bundled Joseph off to Egypt, having no idea how precious he was to God. Joseph's tribulations were beginning to gather momentum. Later we read how he was falsely accused by the wife of his employer who had him thrown into prison. (Gen. 39.) "When will this dream God showed me come to pass?" Joseph may have wondered, as he stood, sadly, behind prison bars. Your belief that faith can see you through your zero hour and change your destiny will be tested and tried. Joseph's faith was tested too, but he kept his eyes on the glory God had revealed to him. Even the seductive speech of an enchantress like Potiphar's wife could not throw him off balance. Joseph was determined; he had made up his mind to stand firm and ...the Lord was with him, and that which he did, the Lord made it to prosper (Gen. 39:23). God was with Joseph, even in prison: the God Who showed the dream to Joseph did not desert him 118 Joseph: Faith Brings Protection and Promotion—because he demonstrated faith regardless of circumstances. Never Despair Many believers miss the blessings of God because they allow despair and temporary distractions to water down their faith in God. Just hold on to Him! Paul gave Timothy the same advice in 2 Timothy 1:12: For the which cause I also suffer these things; nevertheless I am not ashamed: for I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day. Joseph's vision and dream did not diminish just because he was thrown into a pit by his brothers. Likewise, whatever your family, friends, or enemies do to you must not affect your faith in God; this is crucial. The fact that Joseph was falsely accused and imprisoned did not distract him from his vision. Joseph's well-grounded faith in God protected him like a suit of armor. Remember, faithful is He Who promises. (Heb. 10:23) God fulfilled Joseph's vision. The descriptions of his later years in Egypt make interesting reading. We see him adorned in beautiful, richly embroidered clothes as ruler of the country. Men, women, and children of all backgrounds bow down to him in 119 Strangers to Failure homage. He exercises power and authority over all Egypt. Glance back and see him lying helpless in the pit, refusing to die. Take a look at him behind prison bars, trusting God to put things right. Joseph would soon have been dead, buried, and forgotten if he had yielded to doubt, fear, and unbelief. The only reason he came through his zero hour and saw a change in his destiny was because he kept immovable faith in God. Through the faith and obedience of one man, Joseph, God fulfilled a great vision. It was not only Joseph's destiny that was changed; the vision touched people and generations yet unborn. With good reason he was able to tell his brothers after it was all over: And God sent me before you to preserve you a posterity in the earth, and to save your lives by a great deliverance (Gen. 45:7). Faith can change your destiny, my friend. Stand up and act in positive faith toward God. In the midst of your zero hour, hold on. God will see you through to victory. 120 10 10 A Vision Fulfilled And now these three remain: faith, hope and love.... 1 Corinthians 13:13 NIV Many years ago, very early in my ministry, I heard a man remark, "Without faith, a person's life is filled with dreary failures." It took me some time to appreciate the wisdom in that saying. Faith is a magnetic word for those who understand what it means. Lack of faith results in diverse negative influences. An individual without faith may look at his fellows with downright suspicion and distrust: the basic comfort and assurance of real friendship is lost. Worse still, he may even begin to think that the whole world is against him. Then, gradually, the joy of living begins to wear off. As a preacher of the Word for almost thirty years, across some eighty countries around the world, I have seen that when men lose faith they lose their great ideals and their sense of purpose. Instead of being filled with positive enthusiasm and expectation, they become obsessed with a sickening "what's-the-use" attitude. One man defined faith as "continuing to believe in 121 Strangers to Failure certain truths no matter what happens." Steadfastness is an integral part of the faith walk with God. One of the greatest statements in the Bible is Paul's "...I have kept the faith (2 Tim. 4:7). He also wrote, Now abideth faith.... (1 Cor. 13:13), meaning that no matter what else happens, faith will last. A great American preacher has pointed out that the real profanity of man is not the use of a few swear words. The most profane utterance that can pass human lips is the word "hopeless." Whenever we say that a particular situation or person is hopeless, we are slamming the door in the face of God. There is no such thing as a hopeless situation or person. As Christians, we are not to give up; tenacity of purpose yields fruits. All we need to back up our faith in God is a bit of patience and perseverance. Abiding Faith Paul's writings to the Corinthians make good reading. My own favorite verse is First Corinthians 13:13: And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three.... The word "abideth" implies remaining consistent. Over the years of preaching the gospel, I have heard some unbelieving people make the comment, "Faith is a risky business." If that is so, then "blessed assurance" becomes "blessed insurance!" The faith which gives strength and assurance in the zero hours, transforms 122 A Vision Fulfilled lives, and brings visible change is one that believes God is working among us and not just watching us from afar. The Miracle Centre in Benin City, Nigeria, has been documented as one of the largest churches in the world. I have served that church as pastor for many years and have preached on faith there time and time again. On occasion I have been grieved to see some members of the church who are unable to launch out toward God in faith. From time to time I have heard the negative remark, "This situation is hopeless; I feel like giving up." My frank reply has always been: "Quitters never win, and winners never quit." If we will be faithful, in time God will reveal His will to us through the workings of divine providence. I know what I am talking about because He has done so in my own life and call to the ministry. You must get it established in your mind that however God may choose to reveal His will in your life, whatever the particular act He may call upon you to perform, your response must be based on nothing else but faith. Schweitzer's Choice Have you ever read about Albert Schweitzer? He 123 Strangers to Failure is considered by many to be one of the greatest Christians of all time. Surely this wonderful reputation has something to do with his faith in God, which ultimately changed his life and consequently his destiny. The moment came when Albert Schweitzer had to decide upon the subject of his life's work. That moment comes for every man and woman at least once in a lifetime. Schweitzer was known to be an exceptionally brilliant young man. His problem was that he had so many abilities—in medicine, music, teaching. Today he is considered a master in each of these fields. Countless opportunities cross our path, but each life-changing decision must be based on faith in God. What should we do? What must be our stand? Schweitzer faced the same dilemma. One day he was tidying up his desk. Among the discarded papers was a little yellow magazine from the Paris Missionary Society. It was addressed, in fact, to a neighbor, but had been put in Schweitzer's mailbox by mistake. It was all part of God's plan. Glancing through the brochure, Schweitzer noticed an article entitled, "The Needs of the Congo Mission." Over and over again he read the article and then it began to dawn on him—God was calling him to Africa. He had easily achieved worldwide distinction in 124 A Vision Fulfilled theology and music and had gone on to earn a doctorate in medicine. He had also served as assistant minister in a busy parish and had become a skilled interpreter of the organ music of Bach. Some people draw a dividing line between faith and intellect, but not Schweitzer, despite all his education. Faith does not suspend our sense of good judgment, it reinforces it. His friends regarded his decision to go and work in Africa as professional suicide. But soon he became more widely known through his work in the Dark Continent than would ever have been the case had he tried to hold on to a wealthy following in any famous clinic or concert hall. Was it just an accident that the postman put that little magazine in the wrong mailbox? Was it mere chance that it lay unnoticed until the timely moment when Dr. Schweitzer's mind was ready to receive direction? Many people don't respond to God when they should because they find it hard to discern His involvement in the daily events of life. Open up by faith today and believe that, as the famous hymn writer wrote, "God moves in a mysterious way." Dr. Schweitzer could have sat comfortably in his office and decided that he would lose too much by going to Africa. Thank God, he did not. He was willing to thrust out in faith to God, and his destiny 125 Strangers to Failure was changed. Through faith we know that God has worked out a better purpose for us. If you will only read Hebrews 11, you will know that faith can change your destiny. What was said of the saints of old can also be true of you: But now they desire a better country, that is, an heavenly; wherefore God is not ashamed to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a city (Heb. 11:16). Faith makes us desire better things from God and for God in accordance with His promise. Special Words From God Faith changed my destiny. Today, in response to God's unfolding plan in my life, I have launched out in faith. God told me, "I, the Lord, will open a door in the United Kingdom for you to preach My name among the English." I believed Him. Believing God's Word at the moment you read it or the instant it comes into your heart makes a world of difference in your success. Some hear the Word through one ear, and it passes out through the other. Some take the Word into their hearts and allow it to die in their minds. You need to hear, believe, and act upon the Word of the Lord. Confess it, respect it, hold fast to it, because God says of His Word, ...it 126 A Vision Fulfilled shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it (Is. 55:11). It was several years ago, in Benin City, that I heard God's special instruction to me. He woke me one cold night, and I sat wrapped in my coverings on the side of the bed. As I waited there in silence, I could sense the Spirit of God ministering in my heart about the United Kingdom. As far as I could see, there was no knowing as to how the Lord was going to accomplish the plan He was revealing to me, but nevertheless I believed Him. I realized that this is where the trouble emerges for many Christians. If you have been called of the Lord, settle the issue in your mind. Move it down into your heart and all will be well. "Lord," I prayed, "I have no funds to make such a grand outreach to the United Kingdom." Then God spoke back confidently to me: "I, the Lord Who called you, will open the doors. I will provide the passage, and you will preach My name." All to myself I shouted an affirmative, "Amen and alleluia!" It was still dark. The clock by my bed continued to tick obediently. It was 2:00 a.m. Looking over toward my wife, I could see that she was still in deep sleep. Slowly I stretched my body onto the bed and went 127 Strangers to Failure back to sleep. But God had not had His word last yet on this United Kingdom outreach. As I slept, I had a dream. There I was in London. Before me were beautiful buildings, carefully mown lawns, and sleek cars. As I walked along the street, I saw thousands upon thousands of people moving in all directions. Suddenly my eyes came to rest on a grand-looking, five-star hotel, and I felt compelled to walk toward it. Within the precincts of this charming place I was met by a handsome-looking man who stretched out his hand familiarly to me. "Welcome, we have been expecting you," he said. I was so taken aback by the warm reception and the glamor of the surroundings that I forgot to reply. Then I followed the man along corridor after corridor, until we stopped in a very spacious and magnificent parlor. I was beckoned to take my seat. Everything there was of the very best. As I settled down, I began to notice something else. The interior decorations of the parlor were all in red. And the room glittered gloriously as the lights came on. The waiters who attended me were in red attire to match their surroundings. It was breathtaking. "What can we offer you, sir?" the handsome English waiter asked me. Before I could reply, he gave me a long list of all 128 A Vision Fulfilled that was available. I sighed. With care I placed my order, and when it finally arrived I was satisfied with everything. After the meal, a courteous official appeared, picked up my bag, paid the bill, and ushered me out. I pondered over this impressive dream for many days. I could not get it out of my mind. The years passed by, and I went around the world preaching the Gospel of salvation through Jesus Christ. Invitations swarmed into my office from every continent on the globe. I often had to turn down invitations. My tight schedule at home and abroad was bursting at the seams. I went to Australia, then to the United States. I traveled to the Far East to present the Good News of Jesus to the Malaysians. Europe called, and I answered. I had the privilege of preaching in other African countries and in several places in North America. One day I looked through my passport and examined the stamps of various countries, collected as I had visited these nations to preach the Gospel. I had been to more than seventy-five countries to proclaim the Risen Christ. Yet that vision and dream of going to the United Kingdom had not been fulfilled. But my faith in God remained as resolute as ever. Vision Fulfilled 129 Strangers to Failure At the end of 1984 I received a letter with a British postmark. It was from the Reverend Wynne Lewis of Kensington Temple in London. "We have read your book Fire In His Bones," 11 he wrote, "and have heard all that God has been doing through you around the world. Would you be able to come over to Britain in May 1985 and minister to us?" The United Kingdom had called me at last! "I will come," was my immediate reply. I went to London in May 1985, a journey that was to be the fulfillment of a dream and a vision of seven years' standing. A high-powered delegation of Pentecostal leaders welcomed me at Heathrow airport and drove me to a first-class hotel in central London. "This is a familiar place," I said to myself as the door of the car was flung open for me to get in. The smooth lawn reminded me of a place I had visited before. I tried to think where and when. Lifting my eyes, I surveyed the immaculate edifice of the hotel as we entered the reception hall. As we walked through the corridors and went up in the elevator, it hit me with renewed intensity. "I have been here before—but when?" A massive glass door opened before me, as my hosts led the way forward. A shining red carpet heralded our arrival. The walls were laced with 1 (Tulsa: Praise Books, 1981), 130 A Vision Fulfilled exquisite decorations of the finest quality. I stood speechless. A steward arrived, spotlessly dressed. He positioned himself near me and said courteously, "We have been expecting you, sir; what can we offer you?" In a split second the curtain within my mind was swept back and I recalled my dream and vision. To the most minute detail, the Lord had fulfilled it. It may have taken several years, but time could not change the Master's plan for my life. Nothing can alter what God has set out to do. My dear friend, if you will only believe in your heart and accept the truth that faith in God can bring your dreams to pass, you will be so much happier. Through faith, I believe God's Word. Though faith I know He is faithful. Trials and tribulations could not take away Joseph's dream; neither could they erase mine. Faith can see you through your zero hour and change your destiny. I assure you that as you place your faith in Christ, new visions will take shape in your life, some of them far beyond anything you could imagine. Praise the Lord! 131 11 11 From Hindsight to Foresight ...Forgetting what is behind and straining toward what is ahead, I press on toward the goal which God has called me heavenward in Christ Jesus. Philippians 3:13,14 NIV The first step toward a calm confidence in the future is to learn to believe that life is good. That belief comes from having faith in a God Who you know holds the future, as well as your life, in His hands. Ours is a big God, and expressed faith in Him results in big achievements. The real trouble with a lot of people is the fact that their God is too small. They have limited Him. What did the great Apostle Paul say? ...my God shall supply all your need....(Phil. 4:19). What Paul meant was that he served a big God. Past, Present, and Future Many people have no concern about yesterday—after all, it is gone. Others busy their lives thinking about past misfortunes; the records show that such people never get far into the future. Like the proverbial ostrich, they bury their heads in the sands 133 Strangers to Failure of the past, unwilling to look at either the present or the future. I firmly believe that when our lives are in harmony with God's will though our faith, we have that instinctive sense of the right direction, which is the Holy Spirit's guidance, even though we cannot see the way ahead. This is because the Word of God is a lamp unto our feet, and a light unto our path. (Ps. 119:105.) The journey of life into the future must be traveled one step at a time. The Bible says that God sheds His glorious light on our path. All we need to do is to keep walking forward in trusting confidence and unstained fellowship. As we move steadily and fearlessly ahead, we know that through the storms and unavoidable uncertainties we will come at last to the right place. My word to you on this subject is this: move on by turning your face toward the dim unknown of tomorrow, believing that every step of the way the hands of the Almighty cover you. In the Twenty-Third Psalm, David wrote of the Lord: Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me....(v. 4). David knew that there would be valleys ahead. But the word "through" is crucial. You will fear no evil because you know that when you walk through it, God will be right there with you. 134 From Hindsight to Foresight David also wrote of the Lord, ...for thou art with me.... When your whole life is centered in God, He will be there to see you through the good times and the bad. You know that somehow, through your faith in Him, all things will work out fine. Faith is mentioned more and more in the New Testament because it is a new-covenant work whose theme is: The just shall live by faith. (Rom. 1:17; Gal. 3:11; Heb. 10:38.) It is sad that thousands of Christians are spending their precious lives believing the devil's lie. On the verge of tears, they will say, "I just can't make it; I have no faith!" They depend upon other people's faith for the miracles they need. Don't be one of these people. Act upon the Word of God and receive your own miracle! Every Christian has equal rights, and it is God's will and His heart's desire that each one of His children learn how to avail himself of all His blessings. Believe the words you are hearing and reading, act upon them, and see your tiny acorn-seed of faith develop into a giant oak-tree miracle in every area of your life. Faith That Works Jesus led behind, for all His followers, the key to God's storehouse: And Jesus answering saith unto them, Have faith in God. 135 Strangers to Failure For verily I say unto you, That whosoever shall say unto this mountain, Be thou removed, and be thou cast into the sea; and shall not doubt in his heart, but shall believe that those things which he saith shall come to pass; he shall have whatsoever he saith. Mark 11:22,23 Jesus emphasized faith in God. (v. 22.) It should not surprise you to learn that this verse was among the collection I memorized very soon after my conversion. The glamor of it has not been lost through the years. If anything, I have come to appreciate even more the powerful secret of having deep-seated faith in God. Jesus said that we are to have faith in God—not in ourselves, our friends, our faith, occult powers, secret societies, or the mastermind of evil, Satan. The reason the Lord told us to have faith in God is simple: faith in God the Creator works more effectively than faith in any form of His creation. The exhortation of Jesus for us to have faith in God is followed by another powerful word of scripture: For verily I say unto you, That whosoever [that strictly refers to any person; me as well as you] shall say unto this mountain... (v. 23). Notice that the faith that is described here is straightforward, specific, and definite. I would like to issue a challenge to you at this point. Select any circumstance of your own life in which there is a blockage and apply to it the force of 136 From Hindsight to Foresight faith. I assure you with all my heart, as a servant of the living God, this "faith formula" will work. ...Be thou removed... (v. 23). These words mean just what they say. The stumbling block or barrier to your dream, vision, or goal, is removed by faith in God. In the next portion of the scripture which we are exploring, Jesus says that if we will do as He says, then every barrier of faith will be ...cast into the sea.... (v. 23). That is, it will be gone forever. When the hindrance or blockage is gone, complete victory lies in wait. In Mark 11:23, the two most important words stand face to face with each other—doubt and believe. To move forward in faith, you must conquer doubt at all costs, knowing that God is true (Rom. 3:4) and that He will keep His Word regardless of what doubt may say. God Never Gives Up I repeat: faith can change your destiny. It worked for me in Africa, and it can work for you wherever you are. The same unchangeable God rules and reigns over the whole universe. Any deficiencies are within our faith. But it is impossible to have faith in God without knowledge of His Word. Now is the time to direct your faith to God and see yourself a master of the crisis, the zero hour, that is 137 Strangers to Failure rocking you. You may be tempted to give up and cry out, "I can't do it." But that is a defeatist attitude. God never gives up on anyone—neither must you give up on yourself or on your situation. Paul told us, Fight the good fight of faith...(1 Tim. 6:12). Develop your faith. Build upon it. Experience it. Don't allow anyone or anything to spoil the vision God has embedded in your heart. Believe that God will stand by you, and all will be well. One thing has seen me through all the zero hours of my life and has brought me through the storms and tough times in my ministry. One thing has made all the difference: faith in God. Faith can bring you through your zero hours and change your destiny, just as it has done for me. Even as you read these words, I urge you to believe that the power of God is being released in your life. Place your entire faith in Him now! Making Full Proof of Faith By the grace of God, I have seen faith work more miracles than most Christians will ever be privileged to witness in their entire lives on this earth. I have seen faith in God work in my family, in the church, and in many other areas of life. Faith has no limits. Faith does not recognize any hindrance. Faith in God based upon the Word overcomes all stumbling blocks. Faith can change your destiny, if you will let it. Will 138 From Hindsight to Foresight you? My ministry is so full of convincing testimonies to the wonder-working power of faith that today I have no doubt as to what it can do. Truly all things are possible with God. (Matt. 19:26.) With faith, even our human disappointments can be turned into His divine appointments. It may be hard to believe that Paul's confinement in prison was God's appointment. But although Paul saw all that represented the injustice, cruelty, and wickedness of men, he also managed to turn his disappointments into God's appointments. (2 Cor. 11.) Faith in God changes things, no matter how hopeless they may look. Paul followed his own advice to others, and having done all, he was able to stand. (Eph. 6:13.) By turning to God for inspiration and aspiration, he turned his excuses to us. These are the ingredients of faith. Paul had dreamed of going one day to Spain. Instead, he ended up in a Roman prison! Some would have merely folded their hands, done nothing, and wasted away. Others would have cried out to heaven or would have accused God to His face, as Job's unthoughtful wife advised him to do. (Job 2:9.) Paul knew better. He tenaciously dedicated himself to God, even in prison. Later he wrote, But I would ye should understand, brethren, that the things which happened unto me have fallen out rather unto the 139 Strangers to Failure furtherance of the gospel (Phil. 1:12). Paul knew that although he could not get through to the multitudes in Spain, he could win the guards in prison. We can learn a lesson from Paul's experience: If you cannot have the opportunities you grasp, then grasp the opportunities you have." Paul's prison epistles contain some of his deepest revelations from the treasures of God's wisdom and knowledge. Faith changed the destiny of Paul. Faith can change your destiny also. Coping With "Failure" It may well be that, like Paul, you have missed out on something you dreamed of. Perhaps you have ended up in a position of disappointment. Now, if you can't escape your prison, let God help you make something out of it. Disappointments, failures, and trials are the eggs we break to make the omelets of life's success. If only you will give God a chance, disappointments can become the stepping-stones to great achievements. I have shown you how the Apostle Paul recognized this forceful fact. He said boldly, ...forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before (Phil. 3:13). If only you will understand that just as faith overcomes fear, and love conquers hate, so positive action surmounts past failures. Stop keeping 140 From Hindsight to Foresight company with your failures. Lift high your head, look into tomorrow, and let the sky be your limit. Prayer Prayer to God, from the point of view of a born-again Christian, is a definite act of faith. Expecting an answer to prayer is an act of faith. Acting on the revelation of God to bring to pass His will is an act of faith. This is the faith which alters situations. This is the faith which changes the destiny of men and women through Jesus Christ our Lord. I don't understand prayer any more than I understand electricity. But I do know that the mysterious power of electricity can be harnessed to do many useful things. Likewise consistent prayer increases faith, while a lack of prayer is harmful. "Seven days without prayer makes one weak!" Prayer is a propeller to faith. It rises up and moves forward to its destination. Unceasingly, people thronged to Jesus to hear Him preach, listen to Him teach, and see Him heal. One day a man came to Christ seeking urgent help for his sick son. Jesus was ready. The man said to Him, ...if thou canst do any thing, have compassion on us, and help us (Mark 9:22). Do you see where he put the "if"? "If thou canst do anything," he said. The "if" of man is in reference to Christ. But the Lord calmly corrected that statement by replying, ...if thou canst 141 Strangers to Failure believe, all things are possible to him that believeth (Mark 9:23). Better get it clear that the "if" is not with God; it is with us! Jesus said plainly that the only limit to our prayer is the limit of our own belief—the mental actualization of the vision which is in the mind. Before a building is built, the architects draw up the plans for it. And, to paraphrase Edison, "Anything the mind of man can conceive, the hand of man can construct." Similarly, anything the heart of man can believe, faith in God can create. Believing is drawing up a mental blueprint. When that plan is firmly settled in the mind, the word "impossible" is eliminated from the thinking. If science says that it can conceive and build, then faith declares that it can believe and create. In the course of my travels around the world, I have seen some of the most magnificent buildings ever designed and constructed by man. Sometimes I look at the grandeur, finesse, and elegance of these fabulous works of architecture and say to myself, "Lord, give me a vision of these great edifices for the expansion of Your Kingdom in Africa." Those who have no faith think that God does not answer prayer, but as a man of faith I know He does. Today, in Benin City, Nigeria, there stands a magnificent edifice which was once only a dream in my heart and mind. That dream became reality 142 From Hindsight to Foresight because I acted upon it in faith, trusting my God to bring to pass that which He had revealed to me through His Word. You can do the same with your dream. Don't lose sight of your vision. Faith makes all things possible. Faith can change your situation, circumstance, and destiny, if only you will believe God's Word and act upon it. Conclusion In this book, I have attempted to set forth some of the spiritual truths which I have discovered in a lifelong tested and proven faith walk with God. Renew your mind with these lessons and you will never be the same again. Not even the devil can hold you back. Life is similar to mountain climbing in that the climber is always struggling higher and higher. But it is different in that in life we never reach the top. We never arrive because we never run out of heights to scale. But go out and aim for life's highest point, because faith in God can see you through your zero hour and change your destiny! 143 The Harrison House Vision Proclaiming the truth and the power Of the Gospel of Jesus Christ With excellence; Challenging Christians to Live victoriously, Grow spiritually, Know God intimately.
